ENFIELD—SHAKER BRIDGE

One of the structures in the State of New Hampshire which was partially destroyed by the so-called hurricane of 1938 was the Shaker Bridge which spanned the Mascoma Lake in the Town of Enfield. The original structure had several relatively short spans connected by a causeway made up of log cribbing filled with stone and earth. A large portion of the causeway above normal lake level was displaced and most of the spans destroyed. An examination of the remainder of the structure by a diver indicated that some of the logs in the crib work near the lake bottom had been displaced, permitting displacement of a portion of the fill and throwing the cribbing out of a plumb position. From the diver's reports it appeared that the material of the lake bottom might be somewhat soft. The state engineers had wash borings made which confirmed the diver's reports. It was found that a relatively firm layer of material approximately eight to ten feet in depth overlaid a very soft material having a depth of approximately thirty feet. It was evident that the foundation would have to go to at least forty feet below the lake bottom in order to secure a desirable stability for the new structure.

From a preliminary study the engineers concluded that a series of five spans supported on steel pile bents would prove adequate as well as economical. It was proposed to retain as much of the existing causeway as possible, securing the necessary approaches by means of an earth fill protected by stone rip rap along its slopes to a point several feet above normal lake level. The old crib work which was sound below the water line formed an excellent core and its retention made the project economically feasible.

In using steel tile bents in bridge construction it is necessary that the individual piles not only be properly spaced but shall be driven true to line. Because of this requirement it was apparent that all portions of the old log cribbing which interfered with the driving of the piles would probably have to be removed. The engineers secured a crane equipped with a clamshell bucket for this work. A diver was also placed on the project so that the engineers were fully informed of conditions under water as the work progressed. The removing of the old cribbing was a slow and somewhat tedious job but was proved necessary as several attempts to drive the steel piles through the logs in the lake bottom were futile. There were two principle reasons for this. First, the logs were not only large but sound, secondly the material in which they were imbedded was sufficiently elastic to absorb the major portion of the energy provided by the steam pile hammer. Logs were found in several places some thirty-five feet below the lake bottom.

The deck consisted of five sixty-foot steel beam spans supporting a reinforced concrete roadway slab having a clear width of twenty-one feet. An emergency walk having a width of two feet three inches was placed on both sides of the roadway. The railing is of open welded steel construction.

From the beginning the engineers were able to predict with reasonable accuracy the cost of the bridge. The cost of the approaches, however, was somewhat in doubt. This cost was dependent on the settlement of the lake bottom outside the limits of the existing crib. Although this contingency was recognized and was taken into consideration when the estimate of cost was made subsequent results showed the allowance for settlement was insufficient and the actual cost was somewhat larger than was anticipated. This increase in cost, however, was not unreasonable if the conditions encountered are given proper consideration.

It is believed that the completion of this project will provide an efficient and adequate means of crossing Mascoma Lake in the future. The replacement of old structures is often regrettable but necessary to insure the safety of those using them. The years of service furnished by the old structure are more eloquent than any words of lavish praise which may be given to its builders.

BUDGET COMMITTEE'S REPORT

To the citizens and voters of Enfield:

Each year there are certain facts or conditions which govern the actions of the Budget Committee.

This year it was felt that we should (for the third year) consider the question of purchasing a fire pump for the protection of property outside the village precinct.

Also, the demands made on "Highways and Bridges" by the townspeople, together with the weather conditions indicated a need of increased appropriation in this department.

Further, the duties of the janitor of Whitney Hall having been increased by the many additional activities taking place in the Hall, made a request for an increase in salary seem reasonable.

With these above considerations, the tax rate would be about $3.70 (including overlay).

However, in consequence of the feeling by some of the town taxpayers that the rate was quite high, your Committee met again and reconsidered the Budget with the one thought in mind of lowering the tax rate.

The above considerations were dismissed, payment of a note of $1000.00 was put off till next year and the result was a tax rate of $3.51 (including overlay).

General Government: Under this item we recommend that "Election and registration" be increased to provide for two additional town meetings, and an appropriation be made to cover the article in the warrant regarding Municipal court.

Protection of Persons and Property: Same as last year.

Health: Same as last year.

Highways and Bridges: Here "Bridges" is increased over last year's appropriation, but is under that of two years ago. "Summer Maintenance" is the same. "Winter Maintenance" is increased. "Oiling" estimate is for re-oiling those streets and roads which must be maintained. "Brush" remains the same. "Roller and Tractor" shows a decrease because these machines have been placed under the Road appropriation, Town Maintenance.

Libraries: Same as last year.

Public Welfare: The age requirements have been lowered to 65 for Old Age Assistance and consequently this item has had to be raised.

New Construction: The State offers Town Road Aid on a 4 to 1 basis, and State Aid Construction on a 1 to 1 basis. We recommend taking the T. R. A. Gravel offer which means we raise $698.40 and receive $2,793.63, totaling $3,492.03

Payments to School District: Here we have an increase of $1900.00, due to an increase of $707.00 in School Budget and a decrease of $975.00 in income.

On a basis of the Budget submitted with the usual overlay, and this year's assessed valuation, we estimate the tax rate to be $3.51 per hundred dollars of valuation.

For every $1000.00 added to the present Budget the tax rate will show an increase of $.08, likewise for every $1000.00 deducted from the present Budget the tax rate will show a decrease of $.08.

We again commend the Town Officers for their cooperation and help so cheerfully given.

Respectfully submitted,
Dr. Melvin B. Dunbar,
Chairman.

George Hill Panoramic View:

Historical record tells us that George Hill was named after George Knox a colored man who was brought into New Hampshire by Eleazer Wheelock, founder of Dartmouth College, as one of his servants. George Knox later settled and lived near what is now Bert Palmer's store in Fishmarket, part of Enfield Center. As a soldier in the Revolutionary War he was accredited to Enfield, and his service is said to have been that of body-guard to General George Washington. George Knox's name was also given to Knox River which flows into Mascoma Lake.

During the past year the library was fortunate enough to be included in a State W.P.A. library project with a worker assigned us for about ten months. Considerable progress has been made on the card catalogue, and another volume added to the collection of historical scrap-books. The addition of some much needed shelves and a re-arrangement of the fiction section has made our books more accessible. The trustees have voted to adopt the voluntary certification plan of the State Public Library Commission and the librarian and first assistant librarian have received their certificates. Townspeople will be interested to know that our library is slowly working up to the standards set for libraries in towns our size. These standards call for a librarian with Grade IV certificate and salary of not less than $300, the library to be open from 8 to 18 hours per week and income of 60 cents per capita. Those of our regular patrons who have had the opportunity to watch the increasing speed with which the "wheels go round" this year, as compared with last, appreciate how busy the assistants are during library hours and know that they spend many hours putting away books, looking up lists and eternally mending for which they receive no pay. We are told by many of our outside visitors that we have reason to be proud of our library room and its collection of books and we hope that every man, woman and child in the community will make use of it.

Respectfully submitted,
Nellie L. Pierce,
Librarian.

MILK RECEIVING STATION

The pictures in this issue of our town report showing a country receiving station for milk, owned by H. P. Hood and Sons, is a source of gratification to Enfield. The project from the beginning was recognized as being a most desirable asset for the community with direct benefits to our farming population.

The routine activity is concerned with weighing samples, cooling and shipping. The capacity is somewhere between eight and nine hundred cans a day. During 1939 the company paid the producers in W. Canaan and Enfield the following amounts: January, $18,184; February, $18,845; March, $17,197; April, $17,310; May, $15,145; June, $14,791; July, $16,282; August, $15,679; September, $14,652; October, $15,873; November, $18,235; December, $17,585; total, $199,778. In their January issue of "The Milk-pail" a company publication they speak as follows:

"We are right proud of our new milk plant at Enfield, N. H. It is a model of convenience and the last word in sanitary construction. A visiting milk machinery man declared that it was the best of its kind in the United States. Just so we do not take in too much territory we'll say it is the best plant in New England.

"As you will see in the picture it is of modernistic design and is on an attractive and convenient site. A 20 foot driveway affords ample room for farmers and truckmen to get in and out, even in the busiest time in the morning. The grounds were graded and seeded last fall and will present a fine appearance when spring comes.

"The new construction material, glass blocks, has been used for a large part of the walls and with the casement windows make an attractive and sanitary interior. With the exception of the boiler room, where there is a cement floor, all the floors are of brick tile. The main power plant is equipped with a 40 horse power oil burning boiler, completely automatic, and each piece of machinery has its own independent power unit. Full control of each individual piece of apparatus is given to the man at the weigh tank by means of electrical switches which enable him to start or stop any piece of machinery instantly.

““The new plant supersedes the plant at West Canaan which had been in operation by the Hood company since 1919. This is one of the first regions in which the Hood company, then comparatively young, began to buy milk from farmers. There are farms in that region which have been selling milk to our company continuously for more than 50 years.”

We commend the business foresight of the Hood Company in the construction of this new receiving plant and share with them a certain pride of accomplishment. Enfield, in our opinion, is to be congratulated for having a model station, for New England to see and copy.

H. P. Hood & Sons Milk Receiving Station

On this raised platform, the milk cans enter, are emptied into scales (as shown), washed, sterilized, and returned outside, all within five minutes time.

The milk is first weighed (at right), then pumped through coolers (center, left) and pumped again through the doors at left into a tank car on the siding.
